building a legacy

With any planned gift option you are considering, please contact your financial advisor or your attorney to get professional advice on the right plan for your lifestyle.

Bequests

The easiest and most common way of making a planned gift is through a bequest in your will. You can designate a specific amount of money, a percentage of your estate, or a specific asset. IV PADS could also be named as a contingent beneficiary.

Real Estate

You can deed your home, vacation property, or condominium to IV PADS and retain the right to live in the property and/or receive income from the property for as long as you or your beneficiaries live. A life estate gift reduces capital gains, inheritance and estate taxes and offers an income tax deduction as well.

Investment Assets

Gifts of stocks, bonds, and mutual funds may provide significant tax advantages and can be given during your lifetime or in your will.

Life Insurance

IV PADS can be named as the sole, partial or contingent beneficiary of a policy. This may translate into a large gift (and tax deduction) with little cost to you.

Retirement Plans

You can name IV PADS as a beneficiary of your pension, 401k, 403b, IRA or other retirement plans. This gift could be the most cost-effective that you can make, because you avoid the possible double taxation on retirement plan assets left to your heirs.

Life Income Gifts

Gifts such as a charitable gift annuity, a charitable remainder trust, or a pooled income fund provide you and/or your designated beneficiary income for life. Upon your passing, IV PADS can receive the gift. Life income gifts generally reduce or eliminate certain taxes and guarantee an income for life.
